Producer & Sound Engineer | Lagos, Nigeria

Hey there!

My names are PABOR, OYINTARE JOHN, Im from Bayelsa state, Born and grew up in Port Harcourt. I've been making music since 2012, and over the years I've honed my sound as both a producer and engineer. I create records that blend emotion, clarity, and replay value, putting the artist's voice at the center. My work spans Afrobeats, alternative Afrobeats, R&B, hip hop, and soul, always aiming for music that would esonate with my audience on playlists, on stage, and on the radio.

Every project I take on starts with your vision. I guide ideas from rough concepts to fully polished masters, balancing creative expression with technical precision. I focus on clean mixes, tight arrangements, and immersive sound, delivering music that's ready to perform and stream.

How I Work

1. Listen and understand your vision
2. Define the mood and structure
3. Build beats and arrangements
4. Record vocals with intention
5. Mix with precision
6. Deliver polished masters

Contact

Lagos, Nigeria | Remote sessions available

A person with long dark hair, wearing large black headphones and a dark t-shirt with a white graphic, is sitting in a music studio. They are looking towards the camera. In the background, there is a computer monitor displaying a software interface, and two large yellow studio speakers on either side. A yellow jacket is draped over a desk in the foreground. The lighting is warm and focused on the person.

I believe every track should carry intention and emotion. Production isn't just about sound, it's about telling a story that connects with the listener. This is why I focus on clarity, melody, and mood in every record I create.
